FARM AND HOME REMINDERS

Owners of dogs that kill, wound or chase domestic animals in Oregon are liable for all damages thus caused. Anyone who sees a dog thus engaged or under such circumstance as show unmistakably that he has been so engaged, is authorized by the Oregon laws to pursue and kill such dog.
Political Science, O. A. C.

Flues are useful in potato storage bins in drawing off the moist warm air. Then if the doors are opened on a cool day a draft will be created sufficient to carry off this air and lower the temperature to proper degree—preferable 35 to 38, F.
—Farm Crops, O. A. C.

Paint or just oil on the floor not only keeps the floor from splintering but saves the housewife much work in cleaning the floor and in laundering the childrens' clothes. —Home demonstration, O. A. C.

In trying for a stand of clover in localities where clover is not commonly grown it is better to inoculate the seed rather than take a chance of getting a weak stand or no stand for lack of clover bacteria. Any soil that has produced a good crop of clover in recent years needs no inoculation.
If in doubt write for conditions to O.
A. C.—Bacteriology, O. A. C.

Rich, high yielding pasture is the best and cheapest course of green feed for livestock when available.
Silage has many advantages in certain seasons over other systems. Soiling is likewise useful in connection with the other plans in some of the districts of Oregon.—Farm Crops, O.
A. C.

Nicotine sulfate is a powerful re-pellant for tent caterpillars, but if they do eat foliage sprayed with it they are killed almost instantly.
With soap added the nicotine solution is an almost perfect codling moth egg destroyer. —Entomology, O. A. C.

BOYS TO WASH DISHES

"With your arm around your mother after you have eaten your Christmas dinner, boys, tell her to go into the parlor and rest and you'll wash the dishes," said President W. J. Kerr in extending Christmas well wishes to the O. A. C. students just before the holiday vacation. "Eat your Christmas dinner at home if you can possibly do so, and show appreciation of the sacrifice your family is making to give you the advantage of college educations. There never was just such a dinner as mother prepared for you, and there never will be another like it. Charterize your Christmas visit by service to your parents and community."

VOTERS MAY RESTRAIN DOGS

Oregon voters may keep dogs from running at large in any county election precinct or city, by majority vote at any general or special election, points out Roy R. Hewett, of the O. A. C. political science department. The vote will be ordered on petition signed by 100 or more legal voters of county, 15 or more of election precinct, or 12 or more of incorporated town. If owners allow dogs to run at large unmuzzled after electors vote against it, they are subject to a fine of $10 for first offense and $25 for each succeeding offense. It is the duty of the law-enforcing officer to kill all dogs found at large unmuzzled.
